B. T. HEDGES CLAIMS RECORD

Young And Dick Margin Is 2 To 1

COUNTY BD. OF ED. ALTERED

Heffner and Timmons Go Down by Over 1500 Votes Each in Election

CHANGE IS SEEN

Race Was One of Hottest In Recent Years

Showing strength in nearly every precinct of the county, C. E. Dick, of Monroe-twp and Bernard Young of Pickaway-twp, swept aside the bid of Charles C. Heffner for re-election to the Pickaway-co board of education and of James F. Timmons, of Perry-twp, his running mate. Unofficial figures, gleaned from the poll books of the county's 29 precincts, outside of Circleville corporation where no vote is permitted, gave Mr. Dick 3,019 votes, Mr Young 2,906 votes, Mr. Heffner, 1,574 and Mr. Timmons 1,305, making the margin of the Dick-Young faction victory two votes to one.

CONTEST HOT

Never, in recent years, has a county school board contest been so hotly contested as has this one. Every corner of the county was talking of the issues at stake in the election. Heffner, one of the strongest anti-Warrenmen in the county, had paired up with James F. Timmons, of Perry-twp to seek reelection. Young and Dick, not satisfied with the way things were going in the county board of education, stepped into the field. Then the fun began.

Young and Dick placed their platform as opposing changes in the text books of the county which they claimed were recommended by the county superintendent, M. S Cox, and approved by the county board They charged the change would have cost county parents $7.000.

Then the other side began its platform. It was charged that M C. Warren, former county superintendent, was behind Young and Dick seeking vindication.

The vote shows which side was the most favored in the county.

As a result the county school

HOUSE POWER IS GAINED BY DEMOS. TODAY

Republicans Lose Three of Five Seats at Stake; Count Is 217 to 215

LORBACH DEFEATED

Democrats Also Win All Governor's Contests

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Democratic organization and control of the next House of Representatives appeared inevitable today on the basis of Tuesday's elections.

They captured three of the five seats at stake in the elections—the twentieth Ohio(Cleveland) the seventh New York (Brooklyn), and the eighth Michigan (Saginaw) to boost their total representation to 217, as opposed to the Republicans' 215. There are still two vacancies.

Democratic victories in the Cleveland and Brooklyn districts were expected. The result in the Michigan district, however, was an upset. Michael J. Hart was elected there by a majority of about 6,000 votes, the first Democrat to win the district in 35 years. He defeated Foss O. Eldred (R) who had the active support of Republican national leaders.

UPSET IS SEEN

Oddly enough, the eighth Michigan district was the only one in yesterday's elections which presented an out-and-out prohibition issue. Hart, the Democratic victor, was thoroughly wet. Eldred, the Republican loser, was dry. The wets found great solace in the outcome, for the district is a rural one, long represented by "Uncle Joe" Fordney, co-author of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, enacted soon after the war.

The chief Republican victory was in the first Ohio (Cincinnati) district, for years represented by the late speaker, "Nick" Longworth. There they elected John B. Hollister over State Senator

Announcement was made Wednesday that Rev. W. F. Rutherford, pastor of the United Brethren church, E. Main-st has become an applicant for the office of state prohibition commissioner to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of Clarence Sears, Chillicothe last week.

Circleville appears to be monopolizing the field seeking the office. Milton S Cox, county school superintendent, also being a candidate his application announced Tuesday.

Rev. Rutherford has been a preacher here for several years and has a large following He with Cox, is an active Democrat.

WELFARE BOND ISSUE BEATEN; WORLEY NAMED

Rural Sections of State Vote Decisively Against State Issue

THOMAS IS BEATEN

G. O. P. Places But One Man on Columbus Council

COLUMBUS, O, Nov. 4—Although almost a complete fizzle as an index of the 1932 political campaigns, yesterday's elections decided one issue definitely and absolutely. Ohio voters want nothing of additional taxes.

Opposition to more taxing was stamped indelibly on the $7,500,000 state welfare bond issue and also on numerous local proposals for levies and bond issue. The welfare bond issue was defeated overwhelmingly In only the metropolitan sections of the state did it have any support, but such support was almost a flea on a mountain against the landslide of rural rejection

NOTHING SHOWN

Insofar as political trends were concerned, yesterday's elections showed nothing definitely State officials and political experts rummaged through the maize of returns today, hopeful of translat-

REPUBLICAN SENT INTO OFFICE FOR THIRD CONSECUTIVE TERM; JOHNSON, ADKINS, WILL CHOSEN

Mayor's Margin Over George Fitzpatrick is 675 Votes; Parrett, Marion and Neuding Named Councilmen-at-Large; Colville, May and Barnhart Returned to Board of Education; Watt Runs Well; Bond Issue Loses.

A record, unprecedented in the history of Pickaway-co, was made here Tuesday when Benton T Hedges on the peak of a veritable avalanche of votes was swept into the mayor's office for his third consecutive term. He defeated George M. Fitzpatrick by 1,772 votes against 1,097, a margin of 675 ballots, a mark far beyond even the ideals of Mayor Hedges or any of his followers.

History was made by Mr. Hedges in this election for he is the first Republican to ever serve three consecutive terms in the annals of the county. He defeated Mr. Fitzpatrick, a Democrat, in 1927 and in 1929 he turned back the effort of Willis Henn, a Democrat, to unseat him. His political power never came to the fore more prominently than in this election.

OTHER RESULTS

Other contests resulted as follows:

Mayor Hedges' greatest margin

Election Side-Lites

It is believed that there were more "scratched tickets" at the election Tuesday than ever before known. There were over 300 more votes cast for mayor than for the office of city treasurer.

An error on the part of a voter decided the election of South Bloomfield's mayor, it is reported. A. J Roof won out over Harry Welch by a vote of 59-58. According to a report from the election board in that village the ballot which decided the contest was thrown out A voter who had the intention of casting his vote for Welch defaced his ballot.

Otherwise the result would have been a tie.

Lawrence J. Johnson, Democrat, elected city treasurer, carried every precinct in the city.

The fact that youth is wanted in public office was shown at South Bloomfield. Lawrence Hoffman, 24, Republican defeated B. R. Welch, 75, Democrat, by a 2 to 1 vote. Mr. Welch has held the office for a number of years.

In the race for councilmen in South Bloomfield where six were to be elected, two candidates tied but were elected just the same They were fifth and sixth in votes.

Mayor B T Hedges garnered almost half of his total vote in the south end of the city.

H. Sage Valentine, Pickaway-co native, candidate for mayor of Columbus, ran low in this race.

About the candidates for mayor—both live in the same ward, on the same side of N Pickaway-st, both vote at the same precinct, both have been mayor at one time both wear glasses, both are church members and are Pickaway-co natives.

Mr. Hedges is the only Republican who held the office of Mayor of the city for three consecutive terms.

There were no uprisings or disturbances throughout the city during the entire day, according to the sheriff's and police reports.

Paul Kirwin, S. Court-st, was probably the youngest voter. He reached the required age of 21 Monday.

There were more absent voter ballots received by the board of elections this year than ever before.

Over $2 000 was spent for salaries alone on the election in Pickaway-co This amount was use for salaries of judges and clerk at the voting places

B T Hedges was the oldest candidate in Circleville-twp and Sterling Lamb the youngest. Both are Republicans

MUSKINGUM TO MEET WOOSTER

Bill Lange's Black and Magenta Expect Tough Contest This Week.

NEW CONCORD, O.—Muskingum college's undefeated football eleven will make its parade this week before hundreds of homecoming alumni and friends in the last home game of the season at Student stadium, with Wooster college being the opposing foe.

By virtue of its enviable record this season the Black and Magenta eleven is conceded the advantage over the invaders who have sorely suffered by one-point reverses in their last two games. Psychologically, the Boles gridders will be set for retaliation and nothing could serve their purpose better than the Muskingum homecoming game. In the two games played since 1922, when Wooster triumphed 43 to 0, Muskingum has won 21 to 19 in 1929, and deadlocked 6 to 6 last year.

The Muskingum eleven is one of the lightest weight teams ever to represent the United Presbyterians on the gridiron. Its forward wall averages less than 175 pounds per man and the backfield tips the scales for a 160-pound average. With but five lettermen in its ranks it is mainly a new outfit.

Four of the lettermen are on the line: Hawthorne, guard, and Forgy, tackle, being seniors; and Dorwart, center, and Sims, guard, juniors. Waddel, a junior, and Conoway, a sophomore, have been alternating at the other tackle. The flank positions are manned by two subs from last year: Himes and McClain, with Leonard, soph, relieving them.

Muskingum's backfield ace is Carl Zeyher, senior, who plays quarterback and has captained five of the six games. He is the most versatile man on the squad; receiving the ball from center, passing, punting, kicking and running. He has scored 21 points, with two touchdowns, two field goals from placement, and three points after touchdowns by placekicks. He is a left footed booter.

Heading the Muskingum scoring column is Melhorn, fullback, with five touchdowns to his credit. With his 180 pounds of drive he has been the Muskies' one hope when going was hard. Furbay, halfback, has scored three markers, and his mate, Mariner, has made two.

Any member of the family of Wm. Bost, 622 Elm.ave, is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

Barney Barnes Can Now Eat Anything He Chooses

"I got so I couldn't eat anything without having trouble afterwards," says Mr. Barney Barnes, popular oil rig builder, of 2211½ West Grand Avenue, Oklahoma City, Okla. "I would have heartburn, and indigestion pains after meals.

"Nothing seemed to help me. I tried everything I could hear of but my indigestion hung on four years.

"Then a friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had almost immediate relief with the first two tablets. Now that I have been taking them for some time, I find I can eat meats or most anything and have no trouble. I want to tell others about Diapepsin because it sure helped me."

The [illegible] like Mr. Barnes are finding [illegible] certain relief for sour stomach or acidity, by using Pape's Diapepsin. Chew a tablet and that feeling of weight and discomfort after eating just disappears.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 4.—Perfection of a pass defense was the chief concern in the Northwestern camp today as the Wildcats put the finishing touches on their drill for the Minnesota clash Saturday.

In a long defensive scrimmage yesterday against Minnesota formations Northwestern experienced trouble in stopping Gopher passes.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 4.—Michigan, it seemed certain today, will take to the air against Indiana Saturday. The Wolves engaged in a long drill yesterday on aerial plays, both simple and complex.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 4.—Greeney, Notre Dame left guard who was injured last Saturday, will be in the lineup against Pennsylvania this week, Trainer Young said today. Hunk Anderson drove his first and second teams through a long drill on fundamentals.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 4.—Minnesota's unbeaten eleven continued to work behind closed gates today perfecting its attack for the title-bound Northwestern Wildcats Saturday. According to indications the Gophers will rely on a strong passing attack.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Penn was expected to take only a light workout today. The squad leaves tomorrow night for South Bend to play Notre Dame. A passing attack was considered likely to feature the Red and Blue offense against the Irish. Carl Perina, Penn's big fullback, ran 70 yards for a touchdown in a practice yesterday against the second team.

WEST POINT, Nov. 4.—Frentzel is considered the leading candidate for the No. 1 position in the backfield, made vacant by the injured Sebastian. The Army plays Louisiana State this week and will use as many second string men as possible.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Steve Grenda, Columbia ace, is recovering from injuries but today it was considered unlikely he would start against Virginia.

Local Aggregation Will Take on German Weiner Squad of Columbus There.

Circleville Merchants football eleven will trek to Columbus Sunday afternoon to play the fast German Weiner grid machine of that city.

The Weiners have won four and lost one contest this season while the locals have a .500 percentage, winning two and losing two.

Both teams are well matched with the locals having the edge in weight.

Reynold Greene, manager of the local squad is completing negotiations with the Chillicothe Orangemen for a contest here on either Nov. 15 or 26th, Thanksgiving Day.

All Merchant players are requested to report at the armory at 7 p. m., Thursday.

OHIO U. TO MEET DEPAUW ELEVEN

ATHENS, O. — Now that the Ohio Wesleyan menace has been disposed of, Ohio University Bobcats face the problem of keeping the slate clean for another Buckeye Conference championship. Since DePauw is not yet a full-fledged member of the conference, Miami remains as the only stone in the path to a third consecutive title.

Displaying a powerful, determined offense, the Bobcats showed their real strength by defeating Wesleyan decisively even on a wet field. With comparative scores as a basis of prediction, Ohio University should have no great difficulty with Miami University.

A stiff opponent will be encountered next Saturday when the Bobcats tackle DePauw at Greencastle, Indiana.

TIGERS MEET DELAWARE 11

Local Team Goes to College Town Friday in Central Buckeye League Game

Following its victory over Westville last Friday, Circleville high school's football machine is working harder than ever this week in an attempt to be 'keyed up to the best' Friday when they meet Delaware at the latter city in a Central Buckeye League tilt.

Coach Pete Herberholz believes that the Tigers can have a victory if they display the fighting spirit which was prevalent in last week's tilt. Delaware played Marysville to a 6-6 tie last Friday, so therefore is expected to have a strong defense.

Thus far this week Coach Herberholz believes he will have the same lineup as last week, as to date no candidates have been forced to drop from the squad because of injuries.

The game at Delaware will start at 3 p. m. and the football squad will probably leave the school building at 11:30 a. m. Students who wish to attend the game will be excused, according to E. I. Gephart, principal.

BATTALINO WILL FACE CHICAGOAN

In his fourth engagement in defense of his title Battalino will enter the ring this evening a 7 to 5 favorite to retain the crown.

They will fight at the feather-weight limit, 126 pounds, to a judges' decision.

Mastro is expected to come into the ring slightly over 124 pounds while the champion had difficulty in scaling down to the 126 pound weight. Battalino went through a long gymnasium drill yesterday clad in heavy woolens to make the required poundage.

Meanwhile Mastro enjoyed a day of rest.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NOTES

The first grade thoroughly enjoyed a Halloween party last Friday afternoon. Each one masked, also games were played. A few of the mothers attended the party.

The fifth grade has received three new library books. The boys and girls make good use of all the books that they have access to. Some of the books show that they have had hard usage in the past years.

In comparing the results of the Columbia Achievement Tests, the majority of the pupils from grade 3 to 8 have increased their scores over last year, raising the medians of the classes above the Test normal.

The county superintendent visited the fourth grade Thursday of last week.

The eighth grade boys are eagerly awaiting the opening of basketball practice. They hope to be able to schedule some games with nearby grade school teams in the near future. Prospects for a winning team are fair with one regular from last year's team available.

The Junior English class is now reading Shakespeare's "Macbeth." The State Inspector, Mr. Reese, visited the class on Thursday, of last week, he entered into the discussion with them, and raised several additional questions for their consideration as the play progressed.

The Senior class of Ashville High had a Halloween party Tuesday, Oct. 27. Many games were played and sandwiches, cider and doughnuts were served about ten o'clock. Those present were: teachers; Mr. Kauber, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Hedges, Mrs. Cooper; seniors, Marjorie Hoffman, Ruth Neff, Hazel Ribl, Helen Smith, Lucille Foreman, Dick Wills, Mildred Jones, Geraldine Cline, Elizabeth Pontius, Robert Welch, Robert Hedges, Junior Courtright, Edgar Calahan, Glen Rhinehart, Anna Vause, Dorothy Berry, Louise Carley, Stacy McClure, Donald Cloud, Ralph Roby, Annie Boone, Joe Higley, Janette Bowers, William Newton.

The Ashville Board of Education recently purchased a new set of readers for the Third Grade.

In connection with the study of "Water and It's Uses," the Sixth grade Hygiene class made some interesting posters last week. L. W. Rees, state inspector of the Ohio schools and County Superintendent Cox visited our school Thursday, Oct. 29.

The Junto Literary Society gave its first program of the year, Monday, Oct. 29. The devotional part of the program was given by Mrs. Wayne Jinks of Duvall. The rest of the program consisted of music, musical readings, monologues, recitation, and a play, "The Tale of a Shirt." The next Literary Program will be given by the Independent Society on Nov. 20, at two thirty.

The Physical Education Department reports the largest classes in the school. There are two classes of 72 pupils each. Other classes vary in number from 20 to 38 pupils.

Last Friday, Oct. 30, the Groveport Hi School football team invaded Ashville and handed them their second defeat of the season. The visitors scored two touchdowns and added one extra point, while the local boys were unable to get inside of the twenty yard line. The Groveport gridders outcharged the Ashville team and made about twice as many first downs as the local boys. The Groveport team proved to be the second team that refused to let the Ashville gridders pass their goal lines and we hope the last one. Next Friday, Nov. 6, brings Mt. Sterling to Ashville, which should prove to be another good game.

HOUSE POWER

David Lorbach, by a majority that will approach 20,000.

The Cincinnati district presented a real battleground. A year ago the popular "Nick" barely squeezed through by some 3,500 votes. On the basis of that vote and the hard times of the past two years, the Democrats had built high hopes of carrying the district yesterday. Both parties sent money and national speakers to Cincinnati. The outcome was disappointing to the Democrats, but they consoled themselves with the eighth Michigan victory, which few of their leaders had really expected.

PARTY FARES WELL

On the whole, the Democrats fared very well in Tuesday's balloting. They elected three congressmen out of the five that were running, and in addition they appeared this morning to have won all their gubernatorial contests. In New Jersey, A. Harry Moore, the Democrat, appeared to have been elected by a majority in excess of 100,000. In Kentucky, early reports indicated the election of Judge Ruby Laffoon, Democrat; over his Republican opponent, Mayor William Harrison of Louisville. The other gubernatorial contest was in Mississippi, where it was merely a matter of ratifying the outcome of the Democratic primary.

WELFARE BOND

ing them into a 1932 campaign index, but they found nothing of either particular encouragement or discouragement

The Republicans, of course gained considerable satisfaction in the decisive victory of Attorney John B. Hollister over State Senator David P. Lorbach, Democrat, in the fight for the congressional seat of former Speaker Nicholas Longworth But the gloating could be no more than a mere whisper, for the Democrats captured the twenieth district congressional seat thumbs down with Judge Martin Sweeney.

WORLEY NAMED

Mayoralty contests, likewise, failed to show definite trends, although in Columbus the Democrats sat back in glory today with a party member — Councilman Henry W. Worley—in the city's executive chair for the first time in 12 years. The Democrats also boasted of having reduced the Republican membership in the seven member council to one.

A check up today revealed that the tally on mayoralty contests between the two major parties stood about even throughout the state Democratic chieftains of course claimed added strength and that the trend is toward democracy Republican leaders claimed they failed to see the swing.

Worley was elected mayor in Columbus by a majority of 1800 over Mayor James J Thomas, Republican incumbent. Approximately 60,000 voters turned out to register their decision in the city elections here, it was estimated.

General Jacob S. Coxey, famous leader of Coxey's army years ago, led the race for mayor of Massillon on a platform advocating municipal ownership of the city's public utilities and the flotation of a $200,000 issue of non-interest bearing bonds to aid the unemployed.

In Canton, C C Curtis, who was removed from office as mayor in 1924 by Governor Vic Donahey on charges of malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in office, staged a comeback in a battle for a fourth term.

Youngstown voted Mark E. Moore, son of Edmond Moore, a leader of democracy into office as mayor

That quality, linked with continuous advertising, brings results in increased sales.

A dealer does not have to spend much time in telling customers of the merits of advertised products, they know them already

Public confidence is built on quality unchanged.

Products continuously advertised prove that they are worth the price in service and satisfaction

Business is gained by offering the public what they want

Continuous advertising has the selling force that will increase business anywhere for anyone.

Continuous advertising signifies that the advertisers have a clear vision about increasing present and future business.

Advertised products are the kind that modern dealers are proud to sell and customers are proud to buy.

Continuous advertising continues day by day to make better business for those who use its aid

THAT good-will is a great business asset.

Often good-will is the biggest part of a business

Good-will is easy to get if the right methods are used.

A reputation for honesty and square dealing pleases the public When a business pleases the public it gets their good-will, and the good-will of the public means increased business

Many cities could profitably follow the example set by progressive business concerns by cultivating the good-will of the outside world

The more good-will they have the faster they will go ahead in the "March of Progress."

CONTINUOUS ADVERTISING IS A BUILDER OF GOOD-WILL. CONTINUOUS ADVERTISING OF QUALITY DOES THE MOST TO PUT ANY BUSINESS ON A YEAR-AROUND PAYING BASIS GOOD-WILL MEANS HOLDING PRESENT BUSINESS AND ADDING NEW BUSINESS GOOD-WILL SPELLS SUCCESS

Runaway Russian Boy Owns Czar's Treasures

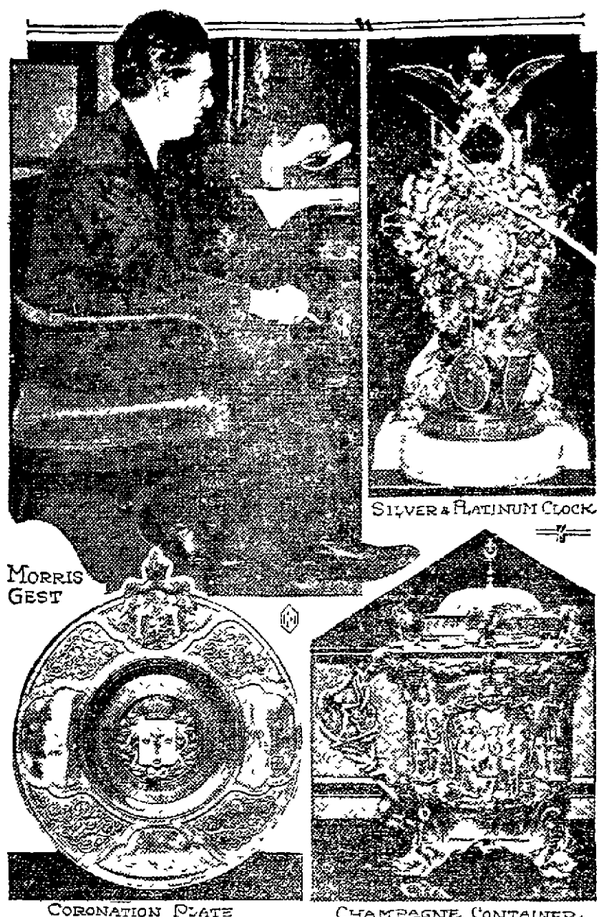
Fine Example of Life's Ironies Furnished by Story of Morris Gest, Famous Theatrical Producer of New York.



Barred from his native Russia in 1905 because of anti-czarist sentiments, Morris Gest, son-in-law of the late David Belasco, now can declare with satisfaction that the affront has been wiped out. Gest had fled Russia for America when a lad of nine because his early dislike of the czarist regime had taken the form of thumbing his nose at a picture of the Emperor which adorned the wall of his schoolroom. Today, a successful theatre magnate, Mr Gest lives and works in rooms furnished entirely with pieces that were once the pride of the imperial Romanoffs. Pictures show Mr Gest in his study and several fine pieces of the goldsmith's art that were the property of the late Czar Nicholas. Even now agents of the producer are scouring Russia for other treasures to add to the unique collection.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a foul, bad taste and your breath is foul, often headache and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes the good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing and make you feel "up and up" They are wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable laxatives, among the best when it comes to making bile flow freely.

Ask for CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Insist! Refuse substitutes. 25c. (C. M. B. Co.)

Circleville Herald,
Circleville, O.

Attention, K. J. Herrmann

Dear Karl:—

I know that you will be interested in knowing of the wonderful response we had last week to our Closing Out Sale. As you know it was announced in the Herald on Tuesday October 27th and the sale started Thursday.

Thursday we had a wonderful day and could hardly wait on all the customers who came to the store. Friday continued with a good day and Saturday was the best day this store ever enjoyed.

This certainly makes me feel good during these times when money is not being spent freely and it certainly has proven to me that the Herald goes into the homes, in the trading radius of Circleville, that have purchasing power.

We expect to continue the sale until all of our stock is sold and will use your newspaper to get the desired results. We know that the people who read the Herald will respond to the values that will be offered during the remaining days of our Closing Out Sale.

Very truly yours,

HARLEY B. COLWELL

Here's concrete evidence that business is good in Circleville and its trading area.

Yes Sir! Circleville and Pickaway County are up on their toes and there's lots of business here for the fellow who realizes it and goes after it.

Moral Go- Getter

THE go-getter may be efficient in the life of business.

His technique is fatal in the business of life.

Much of the cheap morolizing to which we are subjected exhorts us to a highly self-conscious and aggressive pursuit of certain abstract virtues.

We are urged to pursue beauty, truth, goodness.

Here we come upon a fallacy into which the facile moralist betrays us. There are no abstract virtues that can be captured and clung to by the moral go-getter who sets out to develop his character as an economic go-getter sets out to develop his trade.

Abstractions are wills-o'-the-wisp that land us in the swamps of sentimentality.

There is no such thing as beauty in the abstract; there are only beautiful objects and beautiful experiences.

There is no such thing as truth in the abstract. There are only truths.

There is no such thing as goodness in the abstract; there are only good deeds and good desires, good intentions and good ideas.

The moral go-getter is forever chasing abstractions which do not exist as abstractions; he overlooks the fact that character is not a thing that can be achieved by direct and self-conscious methods; character is a by-product of living; if is arrived at by indirection; the business of living is the business of handling with sanity and realism the concrete situations that arise from day to day; it is not the business of trying to rope and brand certain abstract virtues.

When the moralist substitutes realism for rhetoric in his preachment he finds himself obliged to reverse many of the aged and accredited exhortations.

Here are some of the things the realistic moralist says to us:

Don't try to be happy. The self-conscious pursuit of happiness as a thing in itself will finally leave you with an artificially induced stage-smile that will bear no vital relation to the facts of your life. Happiness eludes the man who pursues it. Happiness that is real steals upon you like a thief in the night. It is not a thing in itself; it is a by-product of sanity and realism in living.

Don't try to save your soul. The self-conscious attempt to save your soul will land you in a kind of pious selfishness that may leave you with a shrivelled soul that is not worth saving. The salvation of your soul is not a thing in itself; it is a by-product of sanity and realism in living.

Don't try to cultivate your character. When you set out deliberately to cultivate your character, you are likely to end a prig. Your character is like your health in that you should not have to think of it save when something goes wrong. Character is not a thing in itself; it, too, is a by-product of sanity and realism in living.

Only so do we really achieve what we mean when we speak of beauty, of truth, and of goodness.

The moral go-getter achieves only fragile hot- house virtues.

Problem of The Occident

A PROMINENT churchman pleads for a slackening of science and invention until moral progress learns to keep pace with intellectual advance. The author of Ecclesiastes took note of the fact that God made man upright but that he has since sought out many inventions. Man's first disobedience in Eden, carrying with it the birth of the moral problem, was essentially any act of that restless curiosity, that itch for experimentation, which is science.

An embargo on science until the moral consciousness can catch up with invention is the permanent answer. Let the ethical man draw up to a level with the intellectual man. Let him forswear the use of his machines for the purposes of war, let him concentrate on the arts of peace, and what happens? The arts of peace are precisely experimentation, discovery, invention. Man will devise newer and more ingenious machines for the advancement of life, and in a moment of moral breakdown will turn them to the purpose of more ingenious and elaborate war.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

READ THIS FIRST

Once they belonged to a czarina, these blood-red rubies. Now they have lain hidden in the darkness of a cavern for ten years since that mad night when a revolutionary mob murdered their owner, Prince Murinov. They were safely hidden away by Federoff, Prince Murinov's faithful agent; and Federoff has now come back for them. With him is an Englishman, Frank Severn.

The jewels are the rightful property of Prince Murinov's granddaughter, now grown to womanhood. As a little girl she was sent from Russia with her mother to escape the revolution. Her mother since has died.

Severn has come to Russia at the young woman's request. He finds Federoff and together they retrieve the treasure. Federoff undertakes to smuggle the rubies out of Russia. He and Severn part, never to meet again. Returning to London, Jim Wynter's thoughts go to Katharine Faring, whom he had met two years before.

NOW GO ON

CHAPTER IV

They had been no more than chance acquaintances — just ships passing in the night. And the last thing likely was that they would ever meet again. But Jim Wynter had felt then it was all for the best that he was going so soon out of her life again. Had known that if he had been staying longer in New York, were to see more of her, he might have been in danger of—well, of making a fool of himself; to have let himself fall in love with Katharine Faring—what else would it have been but that?

Wynter gave a little shrug of his shoulders now at the thought. She, courted, sought after, a celebrity on the crest of the wave—and he a poor devil with scarcely a bean, going back to a job on an Argentine cattle ranch. That was the last he had seen of her since Severn had introduced them more than two years ago.

The last time, too, that he had set eyes on Frank Severn—whom he was on his way tonight to see at Beggar's Court.

WANDERLUST

Wynter's friendship with him dated back to their old Charterhouse school days. Severn had always been an erratic mortal, with a restlessness in his blood that had sent him world-roaming since he was 20. His friends would have occasional word of him, now from China, now from San Francisco, any place where the whim or a mood had taken him—or for long periods would hear no word at all. Then some twelve months ago the death of an uncle had brought Frank Severn home to inherit a respectable fortune and this old house in Essex. It had seemed then as if this rolling stone might settle down at last. But within a few weeks his restless blood had sent this born vagabond on his wanderings once more.

Wynter on his return to England had learned from Severn's solicitor that his friend was still abroad.

"Don't even know where he is," grumbled Sant—a genial personality, old Felix Sant, whom he liked. "Had a post card from him five weeks ago from Vienna. In another five I may hear that some whim's taken him to Cochin, China—you know his way. I've had some queer, erratic clients in my time—but Frank Severn has 'em all whacked!"

And Sant had shrugged his shoulders with humorous resignation.

And then last night Wynter had had that odd, rather startling letter from the man he had believed to be hundreds of miles away.

Severn, secretly back in England, down at Beggar's Court—and writing as though he were in hiding here!

He might have been in danger of—well, of making a fool of himself; to have let himself fall in love with Katharine Faring.

"I hear from Sant you're home again," the letter ran. "I came back myself two days ago—and except for old Sant and the servants here, you're the only one who knows I'm in England. And no one else must have as much as an inkling of it." The words had been heavily underscored. "Jim, can you come down to Beggar's Court tomorrow night? I want to see you urgently—I may want your help. Put off any engagements, only for God's sake come!"

STRANGE LETTER

A queer letter. A letter that had worried Jim Wynter more than a little. "For God's sake come!" It was like an S.O.S., desperate in its urgency. What mysterious thing could have happened to make this secrecy about Severn's presence in England so imperative?

As the car carried him swiftly along the misty roads Wynter's mind was full of uneasy speculation. But perhaps something more strange and grim than even his wildest imagining lay behind that urgent S.O.S.

Not very far from his destination now, Beggar's Court stood on the edge of a scattered village, only a few miles inland from the sea, in what Wynter thought must surely be one of the loneliest corners of England—a rambling, isolated old house, with grounds bordering on the winding estuary that ran through dreary stretches of marsh-land and fen.

Then suddenly out of the thin drifting mist that hung like a gray twilight over the deserted highway, the raking glare of his headlamps, when Wynter was within the last few miles of his destination, picked out a stationary car by the side of the road, and by it a burly figure, who looked up from some repairing job and stood aside as the oncoming car approached, his face thrown up in the white beam of light. At the sight of the face Jim Wynter pulled up quickly.

"Why, Sant!" he cried.

Sant looked surprised as the familiar voice hailed him. The driver's face had been invisible behind that blinding radiance.

"Hello, that you, Wynter?" cried a boisterously genial voice; the sort of voice Wynter always thought that nature must have intended for boom-ing out the odds on a race course, just as this big, round-faced man suggested a bookmaker far more than a successful man of law. "Only wish you'd breezed up quarter of an hour earlier to help me change this infernal wheel after a puncture."

"Hard luck," laughed Wynter unsympathetically. "Got it all fixed up?"

"Just about. But what on earth are you doing in this part of the world?"

"Going to Beggar's Court to look up Severn, of course. What else should bring me to this God-forsaken spot that might be the end of the world?" asked Wynter.

Sant seemed to be watching him narrowly.

"But what makes you imagine Severn's there?" he demanded.

"Well, isn't he? I had a letter from him there, anyway.

SWORN TO SECRECY

"Oh, that's all right then." Sant's face seemed to clear. "Lets me out. Severn swore me to secrecy, you know; that's why I had to fence a bit. I've been away in Scotland on business; had no idea he'd written to you, or that you were coming tonight. But since he's told you—well, I'm jolly glad he has."

"Look here, Sant, I'm more than a bit worried about Severn, after this queer letter." He thrust the letter into the other's hands. "What does it mean?"

Sant glanced at the letter. He shrugged his huge shoulders.

"Wish to heaven I knew. Severn came back secretly two nights ago and I met him at Victoria—he'd wired me from Newhaven, which was my first intimation he was on his way home. I only saw him for half an hour, because as luck would have it I had to go up to Scotland that night. I'm just back, earlier than I planned, so as to run over to see Severn tonight——"

"Then Severn told you nothing?"

"Not a thing. I suppose he felt there wasn't time to go into it then—or in so public a place as a grill room. But I can tell you the sight of Severn brought me a shock."

"What do you mean?"

REPUBLICAN

came in the south end of the city where in three precincts, third ward, south; fourth ward, south, and fourth ward, north, he garnered 766 votes against only 258 for Mr Fitzpatrick, a difference of over 500 votes.

COLVILLE RUNS HIGH

Robert G. Colville, reelected to the city board of education with Charles H. May and C. R. Barnhart, showed his vote-getting ability when he led the entire field with 1,512 votes. He led the other three men in the contest in every precinct in the city with the exception of the third ward, south precinct, where Donald H. Wright led the ticket with 197 votes to Mr. Colville's 195.

Mr. Wright lost out by only 15 votes being put behind Mr. Barnhart, 1494 to 1479.

JOHNSON POWERFUL

Lawrence J. Johnson showed real power in his contest receiving 1,025 votes against Oscar Turner's 921. Mr. Johnson took every precinct in the city although Mr. Turner came within two votes of passing him in the fourth ward south precinct where a great deal was expected of Mr. Hedges as a member of the straight Republican ticket's make-up. Mr. Johnson succeeds Paul Holwagen as treasurer.

Paul Adkins turned back the threat of Stanley Lamb when he obtained 1,514 votes against 1,118 Adkins took eight of the nine precincts losing fourth ward north, a very strongly Republican precinct in this election.

Mark Barnett, Jr., led the field of four candidates for councilmen-at-large when W. F. Baker lost his seat in council. Frank Marion who lost out two years ago is back in the fold running second to Barnett. E. S. Neuding was reelected running third in the race.

WILL RENAMED

Clark Will defeated Clyde D. White in both precincts of ward three regaining his seat in council by a margin of 64 ballots. He won third ward north by a margin of 44 votes and repeated in third ward south by a margin of 20. Mr. Will's work on city council has been very commended.

The 87,560,000 water bond issue was given a "kick between the eyes" in Circleville when not one precinct voted for it. The only precinct in the entire county which favored its passage as "constitutional amendment" was South Bloomfield corporation which voted 26 yes and 25 no. The votes were in favor of the issue in precincts not in pcbs.

ARE COMPLIMENTED

John C. Goeller, [illegible] no opposition for [illegible] and Miss Lillian Y[illegible] Clyde [illegible] ward councilman; J. H. Pickaway ward councilman; and Joseph M. Barnes, fourth ward councilman. All were given [illegible] votes.

Young candidate for county board of education are brother and sister.

Six persons are employed at each polling place and the total salaries of all is $52.

The mayor of Columbus is elected on the Mary-Ann ballot. Seven candidates were running and a voter could cast a vote for each by this system. First, second and other choices are indicated.

The salary of the mayor is $900 per annum.

The mayor and other city officials aspire to their positions at midnight, Dec. 31st.

No two candidates on the city ticket had the same initials for their given or surnames.

Of the candidates on the city ticket four are Presbyterian and the same number profess the Methodist faith. Two Lutheran, two United Brethren, one Episcopalean, one Evangelical and some who do not profess a faith are also represented.

Judge I. N. Abernethy, aged 87, was one of the oldest voters. He cast his absent voter's ballot Saturday.

It is interesting to know how a presiding judge of a precinct is selected. The political parts which has a majority of votes at the previous election determines the politics of the presiding judge.

T. F. Hedges received a majority of 37 votes in the first ward, east precinct, the home of both mayoralty candidates.

Mr. Hedges carried every ward in the city with the exception of second, west where Mr. Fitzpatrick had a majority of four.

The first ward, east, home of both aspirants to the mayor's job, had the heaviest vote, a total of 379.

AT THE GRAND

Doris Kenyon who plays the part of the woman who seeks happiness at the risk of convention in "The Road to Singapore" the Warner Bros. picture starring William Powell, now at the Grand Theatre has made the most remarkable comeback in the history of pictures.

Among her most recent talking pictures are "The Bargain" with Lewis Stone, "Alexander Hamilton" with George Arliss; "The Ruling Voice," with Walter Huston and the current attraction at the Grand Theatre—each part being a distince departure from all others.

Miss Kenyon's absence of several years from the screen was due to the illness and death of her husband, Milton Sills. Her previous career had been successful. Among earlier pictures in which she appeared are "Valley of the Giants," "Men of Steel," "Ladies at Play," "The Blonde Saint," "Hawk's Nest," "Interference," "Beaucaire," and "Strictly Business."

AT THE CLIFTONA

The festive and hilarious activities of J. Rufus Wallingford, grafter de luxe, are depicted in "New Adventures of Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" which will open at the Cliftona Theatre for two days.

William Haines portrays the master crook, Jimmy Durante, the famous "Schnozzle" comedian of the New York stage, has a prominent role as the chauffeur who in an uproarious episode impersonates a senator, and Ernest Torrence completes the trio as Wallingford, partner in easy pickings, Blackie Daw. Leila Hyams has the feminine lead.

The picture was suggested by the George Randolph Chester stories which ran in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. Haines romps through a dozen tricky deals in high finance, floats a clay mine, bilks a Syracuse manufacturer, out-smarts a detective who is his Nemesis and in general proves himself a match for the keenest wits. Finally, however, he meets defeat at the hands of a girl, reforms, marries and settles down.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes still further — it eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness.

A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes of money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Don't Be Foolish About the Wearing of Glasses

If Your Eyes Need Protection Why Let Silly Pride or Vanity Interfere, Asks Dr. Copeland, Pointing Out the Dangers of Uncorrected Eye-Strain.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

HOW foolish we are about glasses. I have heard hundreds of persons say, "I just won't wear glasses." Pride is a great factor. We have come to associate glasses with age, and nothing could be more absurd than such a conviction. As a matter of fact, there are a dozen persons under twenty-five, to one past fifty, requiring the constant use of glasses for distant vision. It may be a mark of age for one to require glasses to find a number in the telephone book. But it certainly is not a mark of age for one to need glasses for distant vision.

When I observe the outlandish hats and dress that the human family will wear, because it is the style, I cannot understand why anybody should object to the wearing of a properly adjusted nose-glass or pair of spectacles.

I do gaze upon the photographs of famous men and look at persons I meet every day, and wonder where they ever got such ridiculous looking glasses as they wear. But it is not necessary to have glasses of this type. The modern opticians and manufacturers of optical goods are all the time devising frames and lenses that actually add to the look of distinction and the real beauty of those who wear them. I have seen many a face that would be materially enhanced in its appearance and attractiveness if suitable glasses were provided.

It is absurd indeed for one to reject the benefits of modern science just because of a silly dread of wearing glasses. I am out of patience with this feeling.

I've got to get out of my way to say those things because I know that the foolishness of pride has deprived many and many a person, particularly members of the fairer sex, from the benefits and indeed the necessity of correcting lenses. Many a human being is suffering dumb pain, if not agony, because of uncorrected eye-strain.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — New York will see Dick Arlen for the first time since 1924 when he goes East for the filming of "Wayward."

Dick has been chosen to play opposite Nancy Carroll, while Phillips Holmes, originally scheduled for that part, will stay on the coast to take Dick's place in "Two Kinds of Women."

As it looks now, Dick leaves in about a week, accompanied by Jobyna Ralston. That is, if Jobyna recovers from her illness in time. She is suffering from a sever attack of ptomaine poisoning.

One nice thing about traveling is that the studio allows the stars $250 a week for living expenses and pays for their drawing-rooms each way.

At that, Dick says he would rather stay in Hollywood. Jobyna has been in delicate health for some time, and they have their home here.

IT SOUNDS LIKE IT AT THAT

One of the studio publicity boys was trying to get over a story about the purchase of a plane used by Baron Von Richthofen.

As the same story crops up with every air picture, Lew Levinson, of variety, listened wearily.

"I know," he said, "that guy wasn't an ace. He was a test pilot."

THAT GOSSIP AGAIN.

Sidney Fox's contract was renewed in dramatic fashion by Universal. The option was up at midnight, and they were holding a preview of "Strictly Dishonorable" earlier in the evening. Universal officials sat back and watched how the audience took to her work. When the film was over, they promptly signed her . . . Jimmy Durante is ill in the mountains. He was scheduled to make an appearance at the dinner given to Dr. Giannini by the film people, but had to wire his regrets . . . A welcome change from the usual "hello folks" was Bill Wellman's remark over the microphone: "They don't want to hear from a director any more than they want to hear about the depression" . . . Gene Markey and Joan Bennett are said to be getting along famously . . . Ernest B. Schoedsack writes from Khyber Pass that the Bengal Lancers are too busy fighting to have much time for picture work. After being promised a regiment for a week, he was again disappointed when they had to form an emergency expedition to rescue a kidnaped Englishman.

PUBLIC'S GETTING WISE.

One of the little dramas you see at preview:

A western picture was being tried out on a Santa Ana audience the other night.

Finally came a terrible dilemma for the hero. He could block pursuit by rolling over a great balanced rock and starting an avalanche. But if he did, he and the girl would be marooned on the otherwise inaccessible hill-top.

In this extremity, the girl spoke up: "It doesn't matter, dear, I love you. Roll that stone!"

The audience promptly went into hysterics.

In the midst of it, the supervisor rushed up to the manager of the theatre. "Haven't you got some way of keeping these kid hoodlums out of the theatre?" He demanded. "They laugh at the wrong time and spoil the film for adults."

IN THE NEWS.

When M. G. M. gets around to making the Frederick Lonsdale story, Madge Evans will be playing opposite Robert Montgomery.

The last thing this young actress did was "The Greeks Had a Word for It." She is under contract to M. G. M. and can play the lead in M's picture any day.

Lonsdale's title for his story is "Courage," but this will have to be changed, as Tom Barry wrote a play of that name some years ago.

BIBLE CLASS MEETS TUESDAY EVENING

Mrs. W. L. Mack, Miss Ethel Kiger, Mrs. Orren Dreisbach and Mrs. Aletha Lucas were delightful hostesses to the Young Ladies Bible Class of the Presbyterian church at the charming country home of Miss Ethel Kiger, Tuesday evening. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. C. Kiger, Mrs. D. B. Kiger and Miss Barbara Davis.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt presided at the business meeting of the class. Various business matters were settled and committees named for the series of "Neighborhood Silver Teas," which the Bible Class is sponsoring. At this time Mrs. Watt named the committee for the December Social meeting of the class. Dec. 15 was the date chosen and Mrs. Charles Smith will serve as chairman assisted by Mrs. Allyn Smith, Mrs. H. O. Pile and Miss Elizabeth Umsted.

At this time Mrs. Watt closed the Business meeting and announced that Mrs. W. L. Mack would have charge of the program and entertainment for the evening. A contest on the streets of Circleville, compiled by Mrs. W. W. Robinson, was presented and Mrs. Glenn Nickerson and Mrs. H. D. Jackson tied for first place, on the draw for the tie, Mrs. Glenn Nickerson won first place and was presented a prize.

Books containing Old Fashioned Melodies were distributed to each member and a delightful song fest ensued with Mrs. E. S. Toensmeier at the piano. Mrs. Mack then presented another original contest by Mrs. Robinson entitled "A Spring Romance," a catchy bit of poetry made to rhyme, by supplying the names of various birds. Several members named all the birds and in order to decide the winner of this contest, questions on current events and facts of the day, were asked and contestants eliminated according to their ability in answering the questions. Miss Virginia Marion won this contest.

Mrs. Orren Dreisbach next read an article on "Thanksgiving." A social period followed as the guests numbering thirty-five, were served a delicious collation by the hostesses.

BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING TUESDAY

The regular meeting of the Circleville Benevolent Association was held in the Monday Club room, Tuesday afternoon. The report from the Pumpkin Show Booth was gratifying. Fifty-two lbs. or 110 gal. of Beechnut coffee, fifty chickens, seven Groce hams, 184 lbs. of meat and 300 pies were reported used. This success was made possible only through the very hard work and the generosity of friends of the association. The funds will be applied, in part, to organizing some clubs among the clients for mending and making over garments, proper diet, thrift and other home-making subjects. While the association expects to do all possible toward any necessary relief during the winter it will also carry on a constructive program designed to bring about permanent betterment.

Miss Clara Southward reported the supply closet almost depleted of children's clothing. The need is so urgent that the association voted to issue a call for clothing through the churches.

The subject of begging by children was discussed and the law on the matter read. The practice is confined to only a few families and can be stopped first by refusing alms and reporting the case for investigation to proper city officials, to Benevolent Association or by placing children in the Children's Home or other proper environment.

Miss Southward reported twelve families, clients last winter, sixty-eight people in all, had moved from the city. The number moving in for the winter has not been fully checked yet but is not so great as those going out. Effort will be continued to get indigent families back to their legal residence.

The Association solicits the support of every citizen. It is eager to carry on more constructive work.

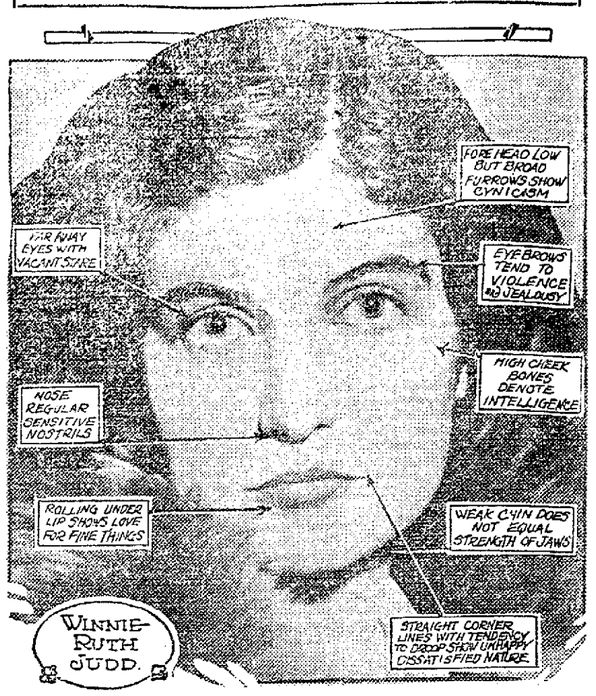
Ruth Judd's Eyes Give Clue to Heinous Crime

Woman Head of New York Criminal Bureau Says Trunk Slayer's Eyes Indicate Motives Back of Murders.



In full corroboration with the person who described one's eyes as the "windows of the soul," Clara Parsons, well-known New York State criminologist, principally bases her diagnosis of Winnie Ruth Judd, Phoenix-Los Angeles trunk slayer, on the "distant, almost vacant" look in her eyes. In fact, Miss Parsons believes that Mrs. Judd's eyes largely explain the gruesome murder and mutilation of her two erstwhile friends. While the eyes are considered the most important clue to Mrs. Judd's heinous crime, Miss Parsons has pointed out various other highlights of the trunk slayer's features which probably have a more or less direct bearing on the case.

SHOOTS CHILD, THEN SUICIDES

Delaware-Co Mother Commits Act at Her Home Tuesday Morning.

DELEWARE, O., Nov. 4—A Delaware-co mother shot her two daughters, kflling one of them, and then committed suicide at their home near here today, using the same weapon, a small calibre rifle.

The bodies of Mrs. James A. Horner, 30 and her daughter Pearl, nine were found by neighbors who rushed the other daughter Cora, six month old to Jane Case Hospital, where she was reported to be in a serious condition with a bullet wound near her heart.

The woman's husband was not at home at the time of the shooting.

No motive could be established for the mother's act as officials investigated the circumstances surrounding the episode.

Belief was expressed that Mrs. Horner had fired upon her daughter Pearl first and then had turned that weapon on the baby. The elder daughter was shot through the heart.

Columbus, desperately attempting to get help on a one-mill charity levy, saw its proposal swamped, 34,583, to 25,346.
